the Boston Area.

For the past decade, Suffolk Construction has been behind some of Boston's most impressive properties. Suffolk Construction has built some pretty outstanding buildings, but more than that, we've built a great name in the Boston area. For almost two decades, Suffolk has provided a steady supply of skilled men and women to support over $1 billion dollars in completed and current projects. For a decade, we've been listed in ENR's "Top 400 Contractors" in the country, and just recently were ranked 28th among building contractors.

Equally important, we've built a solid reputation of providing jobs through our seven-year relationship with the area's carpentry unions. Because when it comes to construction, we believe in the team of professionals behind the project.

While our reputation is based on high quality of workmanship, an unending commitment to excellence, and client satisfaction, the real foundation is built on our long-term relationship with our workforce. We believe that hiring a diverse team of hard-working, dedicated people who can execute the toughest jobs on time and on budget, results in the best work there is.
